Lakes & Streams Committee receives two state awards

At the 2010 Volunteer Lake Assessment Program's 25th Anniversary Celebration on May 15, the Eastman Lakes & Streams Committee, representing Eastman Pond, Grantham, received the Volunteer Limnologist Award and the Secchi Disk Award.

Since 2004, NH Dept. of Environmental Services has recognized at least one volunteer for dedication and commitment for volunteer lake monitoring. This award has been appropriately named the Volunteer Limnologist Award because each time a volunteer monitor collects a water sample from a lake or pond or conducts a Weed Watcher survey, the volunteer is performing the role of a true limnologist.

In addition, the Secchi Disk Award is given to the overall Volunteer Limnologist Award Winner of the Year, a person or group that truly stands on the "cutting edge" of volunteer monitoring.

The Eastman Community is proud of our Lakes & Streams Committee's commitment to water quality monitoring, education of watershed residents, advanced sampling, salt reduction efforts, and many other activities.

Mark your calendar now to help celebrate our lake and our Lakes & Streams Committee during Lake Appreciation Week at the end of July.
